

Waxed Brass

St. Leo brass luminaires are handcrafted in small batches, with finishes applied by skilled artisans. Variations in tone, texture, and expression are inherent, revealing the character of the material and the hand that shaped it - no two pieces are exactly alike.

Our waxed brass finishes are living surfaces that evolve with time, touch, and exposure, developing a natural patina that deepens the character of the material.

We recommend wearing the supplied gloves during unpacking and installation to minimize direct contact and preserve the surface in its original state, allowing the patina to develop gradually over time.

For regular care, wipe with a soft, dry cloth. Refrain from using abrasive materials or strong cleaning agents, as these may alter the finish or remove the protective wax layer. Always disconnect power at the circuit breaker or fuse before cleaning.
